The Minister's Memorandum

Aspects of Will

Rev. Anita Koch

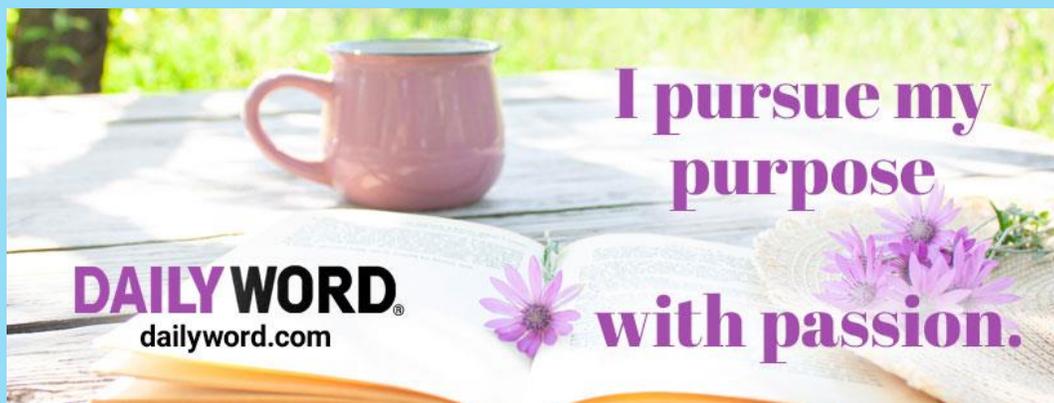

The power for the month of August is WILL. Unity co-founder, Charles Fillmore defines WILL as, "the ability to choose, decide, command, lead, determine." A WILL can also refer to a legal document which indicates a person's choices of how things are to be handled once they have made their transition; however, that's not our focus this month. This month will revolve around the various aspects of our Power of WILL.

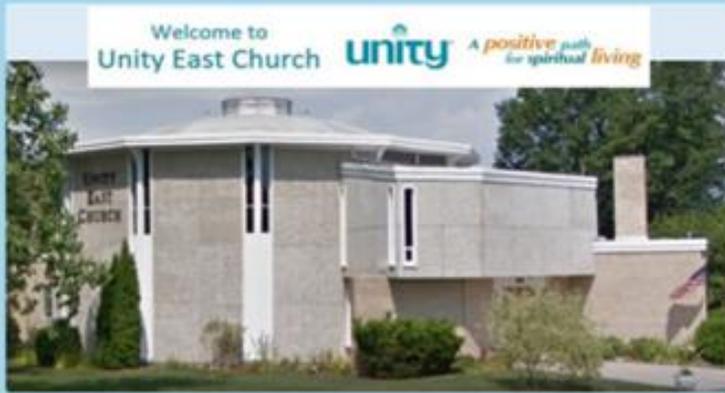

WILL is often used when speaking of someone's determination ... their resolve to find a way to accomplish something regardless of the challenges (AKA growth opportunities) faced. When I set my personal WILL on some goal or accomplishment, there's little that sways me ... i.e. the TV for the UECT sanctuary and other positive changes taking place at UECT. This is, for the most part, fine ... unless it moves into the realm of willfulness, defined as "having or showing a stubborn and determined intention to do as one wants, regardless of the consequences or effects." (I must admit to a bit of the willful sneaking in from time to time.) And then there's willingness ... another aspect of WILL. Our willingness is related to being prepared, ready and even happy to help out when needed. Our willingness may indicate our intent to agree or simply to be congenial.

As we become more intentional in using our Power of WILL ... leaning more toward willingness to trust in Divine Guidance ... we also become more effective and, as a result, receive the Divine blessings (often beyond what we might have imagined possible). I look forward to hearing from you regarding how you might use these ideas and concepts to more intentionally direct your own WILL.

Blessings,

Rev. Anita

Rhonda Grewe

Rhonda Grewe has been a member of Unity East for about 14 years. She performs all kinds of maintenance tasks around the church. She has recently been working on outdoor shrub trimming and removal, and she soon will be building a lattice enclosure to beautify the area near the meters and to hide the waste receptacles on the east side of the building. She does many repairs around the church as well as painting, grilling for our picnics, occasionally helping in the kitchen and cooking food for events, and also served on the Board of Trustees for a few years. Rhonda (and Yours Truly) will also be building a bench for outside the church entrance. She is willing to help wherever and whenever needed. Thank you, Rhonda, for your help, support and for all you do for Unity East and its members, friends and community.

Consciousness Within Our Unity Teachings

By Linda Ridley, LUT

What is the old meaning of consciousness? What is the new definition of consciousness? What is the deeper meaning of consciousness? What are the four levels of consciousness that we seem to live our life in from day to day? How can we raise our consciousness? So many questions!

The word consciousness comes from the Latin term conscientia that means, “knowledge shared with others.” The Latin term conscientia stems from the combination of two words: scio (I know) and cum (with) according to ScienceDirect.com. In today’s definition from study.com, consciousness is the state of being conscious, or awake as a sentient being. Consciousness can also be the thoughts, ideas, and emotions of a sentient being. The Oxford Living Dictionary defines consciousness as “the state of being aware of and responsive to one’s surroundings”, a person’s awareness or perception of something”, and the fact of awareness by the mind of itself and the world”.

Unity sees a deeper meaning of consciousness as the individual awareness of your unique thoughts, memories, feelings, sensations, beliefs, attitudes, and knowledge that makes up the conscious (what we are aware of), subconscious, and superconscious (Spiritual) phases of mind. According to the Oxford Dictionary, “the subconscious is that part of the mind of which one is not fully aware but which influences one’s actions and feelings.”

It is important to understand the ways in which we use our consciousness. In one moment, we can be operating in sense consciousness from our ego and then realize that life works better when we live from a Spiritual Consciousness. Our development of consciousness requires self-awareness, self-knowledge, prayer, meditation, continued learning, some unlearning, and a connection with Spirit, God, Divine Mind or whatever you call that Universal Principle. It is helpful to set our intention to live our best life now.

According to Heart-Centered Metaphysics, (pages 12-13), at any given time we seem to live in and from one of four levels of consciousness: victim consciousness, victor consciousness, vessel consciousness, or verity consciousness. When in victim consciousness, one feels and believes that everything is happening “to us.” We feel a victim of the world and believe we have little or no control about what is happening to us. A Unity student knows better than this. Victor consciousness occurs when we believe that we have some ability to control the world and events around us. A certain number of events and our experiences are controlled by us. We are the victor! This is often considered egotistical. In vessel consciousness, we realize there is something greater or bigger than we think, feel, or believe. We believe we are an instrument, conduit or vessel of God, Spirit, or Universal Principle. This is also expressed by being the volunteer and caregiver of others. As we learned in our second Unity Principle, we learned we are an expression of the Divine. In verity consciousness, we finally realize Oneness. Some call this Christ Consciousness when we understand that it is each of us.

At any given moment, we seem to live in and from one of these levels of consciousness. Living in the victim or victor (ego) level of consciousness will bring many challenges throughout your day. The level of consciousness that we are in the greatest amount of time is the stage we are living in and from. We can temporarily experience another level of consciousness and operate there until we choose to become that vessel connected with the Divine in our daily routine. There will be times when we become aware that we slipped into a lower level of consciousness. Once we become aware of noticing we are expressing as a victim or victor, we can reconnect with our spiritual teachings and raise our consciousness. Let us be in the flow of the Universal Good as a vessel or instrument for love and peace as St Francis reminded us. Of course, our overall goal is to live in the Oneness of verity consciousness.

When Americans lend a hand to one another, nothing is impossible. We're not about what happened on 9/11. We're about what happened on 9/12.

~ Jeff Parness

Life changes in the instant.
The ordinary instant.

Take the first step in faith. You don't have to see the whole staircase, just take the first step.

~ Martin Luther King Jr.

Just because things hadn't gone the way I had planned didn't necessarily mean they had gone wrong.

A Metaphysical Bible Interpretation

Mark 12:30-31

“You shall love the Lord your God with all your heart, and with all your soul, and with all your mind, and with all your strength.’ The second is this, ‘You shall love your neighbor as yourself.’ There is no other commandment greater than these.”

Interpretation

There is an inherent contradiction in these verses, if we simply take them at face value. If we are to love God with all our heart, soul, mind and strength, then what is left with which to love ourselves, much less our neighbors? If we hold some love back for our neighbors, then we are not giving it all to God. If we give it all to God, there’s nothing left for either our neighbors or ourselves.

The answer is that it’s all the same! In loving ourselves, we are loving God. In loving our neighbors, we are loving God. There is no distinction, no separation. It’s all God.

There are no limitations possible on the infinite Love that is God - and we are One with that infinite power. We can’t love ourselves and ignore our neighbors, nor can we love our neighbors at the expense of ourselves. It isn’t either/or; it’s all, and much more.

Fun facts, history, and tidbits of trivia

Billy, or William Johnson Hippopotamus, was a pygmy hippo given to U.S. President Calvin Coolidge. Captured in Liberia, he was given to Coolidge by Harvey Firestone, founder of The Firestone Tire Co., in 1927. Billy spent most of his life in the National Zoo in Washington, D.C. After arriving at the zoo - and quickly becoming one of its most popular animals - Billy the hippo settled in, and his personality became clear. He was "as frisky as a dog," reported The New York Times, which added, "Even the antics of the monkeys go unobserved when the keeper opens the tiny hippo's cage and cuts up with him." In addition to his fame as an exotic presidential pet - which afforded him a trip to the 1939 New York World's Fair - Billy is also notable as the common ancestor to most pygmy hippos in American zoos. By the time of his death in 1955, Billy had sired 23 calves, 13 of whom survived at least a year.

The world's longest tandem bicycle, according to The Guinness Book of World Records, measures 180 feet, 11 inches long. It was invented by a group of engineering enthusiasts in the Netherlands in 2020.

Fun Facts About Fireflies

- Fireflies are not flies. They are beetles in the same order as ladybugs and boll weevils.
- Fireflies have a “glow organ” located in their abdomen. An enzyme called “luciferin” combines with oxygen, calcium and adenosine triphosphate to create light. A firefly can control when it lights up by breathing in oxygen.
- Male fireflies use a pattern of light to attract females. The male will know if a female is interested by seeing how long it takes to flash back her reply... though some females use false flash patterns to trick the males into coming closer and then eat them. 🤩
- Fireflies can synchronize their flashing during mating season.

In 1858, Ezra J. Warner of Connecticut invented the can opener. The device was a long time coming: Frenchman Nicolas Appert had developed the canning process in the early 1800s as a practical method of preserving food for Napoleon’s army. The process included half-cooking the food, storing it in glass bottles, and immersing the bottles in boiling water. Englishman Peter Durand received the first patent for preserving food in actual cans in 1810, so canned food predates the can opener by nearly half a century.

Before Warner’s invention, cans were opened with a hammer and chisel. Warner’s tool (used by Civil War soldiers) wasn’t a great replacement, however. It used a series of blades to puncture and then saw off the top of a can, leaving a dangerously jagged edge. As for the hand-crank can opener most commonly used today, that wasn’t invented until 1925.

This is 350 million years in one picture. Situated 80 meters from the Irish shore is an impressive sea stack known as Dun Briste or the 'Broken Fort'. It is an astonishing formation in the sense that it allows you to see layer upon layer of multicolored rock strata.

Did You Know... In Las Vegas there are more Catholic Churches than casinos. Not surprisingly some worshipers at Sunday services will give casino chips rather than cash when the basket is passed. Since they get chips from many different casinos, the churches have devised a method to collect the offerings. The churches send all their collected chips to a nearby Franciscan monastery for sorting and then the chips are taken to the casinos of origin and cashed in. This is done by the chip monks.
